TRADITION SINCE 1774. BIRKENSTOCK. THE ORIGINAL.

As the inventors of the footbed, we've spent centuries coming up with ways to make our customers' lives better and richer – by crafting good shoes for every situation imaginable. In a consumer world driven primarily by price and dominated by cheap merchandise, our BIRKENSTOCK premium products offer a smart and attractive alternative for people who value functionality, durability and sustainability.

Our sandals are made in Germany at our own manufacturing facilities, with an extensive amount of the work performed by hand. Every sandal undergoes 17 individual production steps before the finished product is ready; for our shoes, that number is well over 100. The closed-toe models are made in workshops in Portugal that adhere to a centuries-old tradition of handcraftsmanship.

Whether produced by man or machine, all BIRKENSTOCK products meet the highest quality standards in the shoe industry worldwide. This applies just as much to our sandals and closed-toe models as it does to our bags and socks.

WE TAKE SUSTAINABILITY SERIOUSLY

The protection of our natural resources is one of the most pressing issues of our time. We are committed to environmentally friendly operations. For us, sustainability is not a marketing-driven fad, but rather an expression of our corporate ethos. Environmental protection has long been paramount at BIRKENSTOCK. We constantly work to improve production processes, products, packaging and logistics. Thanks to their durability, our products are sustainable by nature. A high proportion of the natural materials that we use are from sustainable sources: cork, natural latex, jute, leather, wool felt, copper and brass are among our most important materials.

MODEL OVERVIEW

150-152

OFTEN IMITATED, NEVER EQUALED: THE ORIGINAL BIRKENSTOCK FOOTBED

At the heart of all our models is the original BIRKENSTOCK footbed. Replicating a footprint in the sand, its construction has been consummately designed and engineered down to the smallest detail. The original BIRKENSTOCK footbed has built-in shock absorption, while the gripping motion that keeps the shoe in place provides exercise and promotes circulation. The anatomical moldings are designed to reduce pressure when you walk, helping to provide relief for your feet, joints and back.

01 | HEEL CUP

The molding in the heel area supports your foot tissue and holds your heel bone firmly in its natural position.

02 | HEEL MOLD

The outer arch support promotes movement that reduces pressure on the joints – and the likelihood of twisting your ankle. The heel mold activates the calf muscles, stabilizes the back of the foot and improves gait and coordination.

03 | LONGITUDINAL ARCH SUPPORT

The arch support along the side of the footbed surrounds the tarsal bone. As a result, it provides the stability your foot needs when walking, while supporting and strengthening the inner arch. It stabilizes the back of the foot, thereby improving gait and coordination.

04 | TRANSVERSE ARCH SUPPORT

The transverse arch support, which runs through the middle of the footbed, stabilizes the metatarsal bone, easing the pressure on the balls of your feet and helping prevent splayfoot. It also helps ensure that your foot maintains a naturally straight and solid stance.

05 | TOE GRIP

There are raised indentations at the front of the footbed near the toes. Thanks to this toe grip, your toes remain relaxed in their natural position, which supports the flexing action of walking.

06 | FOOTBED EDGE

The footbed rises noticeably at the front end. This edge protects your toes as your foot flexes.

07 | FIRST LAYER OF JUTE

The first layer of jute forms the base of our footbed. It helps bond the natural cork to the latex core.

08 | CORK AND LATEX FOOTBED

The cork and latex footbed is the heart of all BIRKENSTOCK shoes. This shock-absorbing and highly flexible core cushions and supports the feet while relieving pressure. Crafted of natural materials, it insulates against both heat and cold and keeps your feet feeling fresh.

09 | SECOND LAYER OF JUTE

The second layer of jute frames the sides of the footbed, increasing its flexibility and durability. This thick, absorbent layer also helps regulate moisture.

10 | SUEDE LINING

The high-quality suede lining naturally absorbs moisture to help keep feet fresh.

FOAM INSERT (ONLY ON THE SOFT FOOTBED)

The soft footbed is padded with an anatomically shaped foam inlay. It contains millions of tiny air bubbles that deliver an especially comfortable wearing experience.

BIRKENSTOCK COMFORT – AVAILABLE IN CLOSED-TOE SHOES, TOO

All BIRKENSTOCK closed-toe shoes are fitted with our unique, anatomically shaped footbed, so you never have to go without the BIRKENSTOCK comfort you know and love.

A CROSS SECTION OF THE ORIGINAL BIRKENSTOCK SOFT FOOTBED

- 01 Flexible EVA outsole
- 02 Water soluble-adhesive
- 03 Lower jute layer (coarse)
- 04 Cork and latex core
- 05 Upper jute layer (fine)
- 06 Permanently elastic latex cushion
- 07 Suede lining

LAYER BY LAYER PURE FUNCTIONALITY

The original BIRKENSTOCK footbed combines natural materials from sustainable sources with outstanding functionality. The smooth suede lining is the first layer that delivers comfort. It is wonderfully soft, absorbing moisture and wicking it away to the thickly woven jute layer below. Another layer down is the cork and latex core that forms the heart of the footbed. It cushions impacts and supports your foot every step of the way. A layer of coarse jute and the sturdy EVA outsole round off the stabilizing design, providing your foot with additional relief.

Those who prefer their shoes to be a bit softer should opt for the BIRKENSTOCK soft footbed. Here, we insert a permanently elastic latex cushion right underneath the suede lining. It gently cushions every step and always returns to its original form. Like walking on air!

EACH ONE OF OUR SHOES COMES WITH A FOOTBED

When people use the term footbeds, they're actually talking about BIRKENSTOCK. While footbeds are now synonymous with extraordinary comfort, the term itself was first used by BIRKENSTOCK in the 1930s to denote anatomically shaped insoles that provide special support. Unlike other orthopedic inserts at the time, which were designed to relieve and treat ailing feet, our footbed was conceived with the aim of maintaining healthy feet.

All our models, from sandals to closed-toe shoes, come with a footbed. The carefully thought-out construction imitates a footprint in the sand, ensuring that your feet feel as comfortable as possible for hours on end. The anatomical contours of the footbed reduce pressure and support the natural rolling movement of walking.

The flexible cork and latex core forms the heart of all BIRKENSTOCK footwear to this day. The result is unbeatable wearing comfort.

Today we use only natural materials from sustainable sources in the original BIRKENSTOCK footbed: light natural cork, select jute, high-quality latex and handpicked suede for the lining. In our close-toe models, it's this velvety-soft lining that delivers standout moisture management. The result is increased well-being and a comfortable foot climate when our closed-toe shoes are worn barefoot.

TWO WIDTHS FOR A PERFECT FIT

If you've ever bought shoes (and who hasn't?), you'll be familiar with the problem that most models only come in one width. You'll usually find yourself looking in vain for width options. That's not the case at BIRKENSTOCK. We know that no two feet are the same, so our original footbed doesn't just come in the regular width.

Instead, all models are also available in a slimmer fit for slender feet. Just adjust the straps – and your BIRKENSTOCKs are ready for walking! Look for these symbols when choosing your shoes:

DETERMINING YOUR SHOE SIZE.

Once you've measured your feet in millimeters, simply use that measurement to find your shoe size in the table.

Remember that every BIRKENSTOCK has its shoe size and millimeter measurement printed on the footbed, so it's easy to find a pair that fits.

IT'S ONLY GOOD IF IT FEELS GOOD

One of the main reasons why our customers are so happy with BIRKENSTOCK products lies in our carefully selected materials. Whether it's comfortable felt, soft leather or cushioned cork, we place great value on the highest quality, both when choosing our materials and crafting our products. That's why we're always on the lookout for the most sustainable sources and the latest materials with the best BIRKENSTOCK properties.

NATURAL LEATHER

Natural leather has a textured surface. It reflects the beauty and goodness of leather – a valuable natural resource – both in its unmistakable appearance and very nature. BIRKENSTOCK purposely does not treat surfaces and other features, so each of our leather products is unique, with the material left the way nature intended. We use carefully selected leather with a thickness of 2.8 to 3.2 millimeters for our uppers.

SMOOTH LEATHER

Smooth leather has a beautiful natural texture left that can range from very fine-grain to full-grain. The surface finish can be varied, for instance to produce aniline or nappa leather. This leather is especially durable; external influences have little effect. If you take good care of them, you will enjoy your smooth leather shoes and sandals for a long time.

PATENT-COATED LEATHER

The term "patent-coated leather," often simply called "patent leather," refers to fashionable types of leather with finished surfaces. Thanks to the many different types of designs, films and embossing, there are almost no limits to the coatings that can be applied and the looks that can be created.

NAPPED LEATHER

Napped leather is an umbrella term for leather varieties without the characteristic texture on their surfaces. These leathers are buffed (nubuck) or the surface is removed (suede). The color and surface may change over time – or a natural patina may alter and customize its look.

SUEDE

Suede, which is sometimes referred to as velours leather, has a rough, fibrous, soft and therefore flexible surface. Its open pores make it highly breathable, yet at the same time more susceptible to soiling. A simple brushing will usually remove any dirt.

NUBUCK LEATHER

Nubuck leather has been softly buffed. This polishing process smoothes the natural texture of the surface, making it velvety to the touch. And as is the case with velvet, brushing the surface of nubuck leather displaces the fibers, leaving a visible trace and changing its appearance in different lights. These fine fibers are highly sensitive to moisture and dust. Weatherproofing products or gentle cleaning with a brush can help protect against soiling.

BIRKO-FLOR

This material, specially developed by BIRKENSTOCK, offers an alternative to leather. The upper layer is made of a washable, easy-care synthetic material. The inside is lined with a moisture-regulating layer of fleece. This quality material is very soft, comfortable and gentle on the skin, while also being highly durable. It also has a warming effect, making Birko-Flor models a good option in cooler temperatures. They come in a whole rainbow of colors, designs and styles.

WOOL FELT

Wool felt is one of the oldest textiles in the world: a high-quality, natural fiber made from sheep's wool that offers many valuable properties. Gentle on the skin, elastic and breathable, it insulates against both heat and cold while keeping feet feeling fresh.

FELT

Felt is a very thick material made from mixed fibers. The felts used by BIRKENSTOCK are exceptionally comfortable, breathable and soft to the touch. But they wouldn't be BIRKENSTOCK if they weren't also robust and highly durable.

EVA SANDALS

Based on the cork sandal, this model is made from ultra lightweight and highly flexible EVA and offers the level of comfort you have come to expect from BIRKENSTOCK.

BIRKENSTOCK®

WOMEN SHOES

Birkenstock's original cork-latex footbed provides a versatile base for almost any style shoe. The latest designs range from dreamy Mary Poppins models like Laramie, through lightweight sports shoes like Arran – all the way to the Saitama penny loafer, which artistically pairs two types of leather. But no matter how exciting and beautiful the styles: the focus stays steady on a comfortable stride and healthy foot posture.

UNISEX SANDALS

Twinning men's and women's styles may be a hot new fashion trend, but the partner-look experience has long been a Birkenstock tradition. While models like Arizona, Milano and Boston have been worn by men and women alike for years, now iconic one-strap sandals like Madrid and Vaduz have gone unisex as well – and not just thanks to the comfortable, anatomically shaped footbed.

LEATHER STEER

To create this sandal, we took the best parts of our Zürich and Arizona models and gave them an update of heavily tumbled leather, which boasts a pure, natural character. The result is a shoe that clearly demonstrates its BIRKENSTOCK DNA.

DESERT SOIL

The contrast between the red-brown sole and the brown upper updates the look for spring/summer 2018 with refreshing, earthy tones.

SCUBA EVA

Sky blue, sunshine yellow, coral and silver conjuring up vacation vibes. The anatomically shaped footbed pampers the feet inside.

EVA

BIRKENSTOCK has been successful in implementing this material in its sandals because it's super light and comfortable.

The material is also waterproof, making it an ideal footwear choice for a trip to the pool or the waterpark.

UNISEX SHOES

Many Birkenstock shoes were created as unisex models from their very inception. That applies foremost to the iconic classics Montana and London. But textile tennis shoes like Arran and the high-top Bartlett sports shoe with its sawtooth profile score equally well with men and women, too. The design coup: even the fashionably narrow styles boast all the benefits of Birkenstock's anatomically shaped footbed.

BOYS SANDALS & SHOES

Simply put, Birkenstock sandals and shoes for boys have it all. Crafted with responsibility, they promote a healthy gait while delivering dependable support and hard-wearing durability. They're easy to clean, too – and they look so cool! Topping the must-have list are the sandals made with flexible Birko-Flor: me-too mirror images of the adults' leather models. And if the weather demands closed shoes, little men will still benefit from the comfortable, anatomically shaped footbed in the leather and textile styles.

INSOLES

Way back when, the BIRKENSTOCK success story began with orthopedic insoles. To this day, their anatomical design forms the heart of our legendary brand, setting the standard for all of the products and models we develop. Do you spend a lot of time on your feet, at work or at play? Our unique insoles are the perfect solution for every walk of life. Just insert them in practically any shoe – and step out in style and comfort!

THE BLUE FOOTBED®

Slip on your shoes and live life to the fullest: with the Blue Footbed®, your gait will be comfortable and anatomically correct. And because even people with the same shoe size often have different toe lengths, the footbed is also available in a slightly shorter version.
